DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 57-61 are allowed.

Examiner's Statement of Reason for allowance

2. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The prior art of record, Boyer et al (US 6208973) Boyer teaches a method for processing a charge applied to at least one of a credit card account and a debit card account, the method comprising: receiving charge data that indicates a transaction amount, a merchant, and at least one of a credit card account and a debit card account of an account holder in which the reimbursement rule indicates a reimbursement condition and a reimbursement party (col. 3, lines 9-38; col. 4, lines 24-48); determining a financial account of a reimbursing party that corresponds to the at least one of the credit card account and the debit card account (col. 3, lines 9-38; col. 4, lines 24-48); determining a reimbursement amount that corresponds to the at least one of the credit card account and the debit card account, wherein the step of determining the reimbursement amount comprises (col. 6, lines 13-23; col. 11, lines 35-63); determining a whether the charge data satisfies the reimbursement rule based on the reimbursement condition and the indication of the merchant (col. 6, lines 13-25; col. 7, lines 1-10; figs. 2B and 5); determining a reimbursement amount based n reimbursement rule and charge data; applying to the at least one of the credit card account and the debit card account a first charge amount that is based on a difference between the transaction amount and the reimbursement amount, if the charge data satisfies the reimbursement rule (col. 11, lines 35-63; col. 3, lines 30-38); and applying to the financial account a second charge amount based on the reimbursement amount, if the charge data satisfies the reimbursement rule (col. 11, lines 35-63; col. 3, lines 30-38).

Levaro, R. (Credit world, may/Jun 1996) discloses a “trip-in-a-bag” concept that allows card providers and client companies to follow a central pay model that uses an electronic billing and settlement system. The card issuer sends an electronic billing file to the company for the expenses of the employees during a billing period and the company settles the bill (abstract, paragraphs 12-18).

Zubeck, P. (The Gazette, Colorado Springs, CO., May 24, 1998) is cited for teaching a concept whereby a patient is billed by a hospital if the hospital does not receive payment from the insurance company within 45 days (paragraph 17).

Boyer, Levaro and Zubeck fail to teach a method for processing a charge applied to a card account comprising: determining whether the reimbursing party has remitted a payment of the second charge amount within the period of time for the reimbursing party to remit payment; and applying the second charge amount to the credit card account if the reimbursing party has not remitted a payment of the second charge amount within the period of time for the reimbursing party to remit payment.

For this reason, claims 57-61 are deemed to be allowable over prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by the applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reason for Allowance".
